

Getting Started: Lessons for newly qualified Social Workers

Have a clear cut objective

Envision and list out the key objectives you wish to accomplish after 3-5 years working in the Social Worker industry. This will help keep you on track and work towards success.

Do not make false promises

Do not over promise or offer more than what you can deliver to patients or coworkers.

Get to know local resources

Accept the fact that you will need help from time to time. Learn about the available services in your local area and take note of emergency numbers and address.

Develop career building relationships

Having the support of a mentor and like-minded colleagues will help fast track your Social Worker career progression.
