

The Three Rs to Building Better Work Relationships

Reliable

Adopt a customer service mindset when dealing with your peers so that you're always attentive and ready to help when they're in a crunch.

Resource

Be a resource of information and advice when your colleagues need it the most. This can be in terms of day-to-day work or even how to achieve their goals or problem-solving.

Remove Obstacles

Be proactive in lending assistance if you see a colleague struggling. Support them as they face different challenges in their career, and you can improve the overall morale of the team you work with.
